

Fourth Sunday of Easter Renewal and Abundant Life

Instructions for making a moveable bear shadow puppet:

Print the craft sheet and cut out both pieces. If you want a stronger backing, you can first glue the sheet to some card stock and then cut out both pieces of the bear.

With a pin or small nail, poke a small hole on the red marking. To connect both pieces you can use a brass fastener, if you have one. I used a small piece of a twist tie folded flat, that worked fine too. You want the pieces to be able to move.

With clear tape, attach two small sticks to be able to move your shadow puppet, and you are done!

Now you need to make a theater. If you have an old box (shoe box, cereal box), cut a rectangle in it, cover it with a sheet of tissue paper, and shine a strong light behind it. You can decorate it as you wish.

Add more shadow puppets of your own and have fun! Next week I'll share another puppet to go with our story.
