

UNCHARTED - Time For A New Plan

Whatever you're doing this week, I can pretty much guarantee it isn't what you thought you were going to be doing, or at least not how you thought you were going to be doing it. There's something so unsettling about losing control of our everyday lives and rhythms that many of us have. Things aren't going as planned, so it's time for a new plan.

Scripture: James 4:13-17, Psalm 77:16-19

Discussion Questions

1. Spend some time bringing each other up to speed on how you're doing. What is happening in your life? What are your current worries/challenges/encouragements/praises?
2. How have your plans changed in the last 2 weeks? What short term things have been postponed or canceled? Have any of your long term plans had to change? What are the emotions that you're feeling as the way we've had to live has changed so much?
3. Read James 4:13-17 together. Are you normally a good planner? What do we find out in the passage about the limits of making plans? Compare and contrast the statements in verse 13 and 15. What is different about them?
4. In verse 17 it says that if you know what to do, and don't do it, that is sin. What are the kinds of things that we know we should do?

Moving Forward

How can we apply the wisdom of this section to our lives now? Pray for one another.