ONE HEAD. ONE BODY.

And He is the Head of the body, the church. (Colossians 1:18)

There is one body and one Spirit. (Ephesians 4:4)

Praying the Psalms as the Body of Christ

'Christ prayed the Psalms – the Christian community was early convinced that He continues praying them through us as we pray them: 'we recite this prayer of the Psalm in Him and He recites it in us.'

Eugene Peterson, Answering God: the Psalms as tools for prayer

'No greater gift could God have given to men than in making His Word, by which He created all things, their Head, and joining them to Him as His members: that the Son of God might become also the Son of man, one God with the Father, one Man with men; so that when we speak to God in prayer for mercy, we do not separate the Son from Him; and when the Body of the Son prays, it separates not its Head from itself: and it is one Saviour of His Body, our Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who both prays for us, and prays in us, and is prayed to by us. He prays for us, as our Priest; He prays in us, as our Head; He is prayed to by us, as our God. Let us therefore recognise in Him our words, and His words in us. [...]

He is prayed to in the form of God, in the form of a servant He prays; there the Creator, here created; assuming unchanged the creature, that it might be changed, and making us with Himself one Man, Head and Body. Therefore we pray to Him, through Him, in Him; and we speak with Him, and He speaks with us; we speak in Him, He speaks in us the prayer of this Psalm, [...] Let no one then, when he hears these words, say, Christ speaks not; nor again say, I speak not; nay rather, if he own himself to be in the Body of Christ, let him say both, Christ speaks, and I speak. Be thou unwilling to say anything without Him, and He says nothing without you.'

St. Augustine, Exposition on Psalm 86

Summary

We pray to Jesus because He is our God. He prays for us because He is our Priest. But what is perhaps most remarkable is that when we pray the Psalms, Jesus also prays in us as our Head.

Jesus is our spiritual Head and we are the 'living members of His mystical Body, which is the blessed company of all faithful people.' So when we pray the Psalms (the prayer book of Jesus), it is Christ our Head who gives voice to our prayers. We connect to Him in voice and spirit, His words become our words, our desires and longings become one with His, we are shaped and formed to become more like Him.

Dismissal (on the Invitatory bead)

Almighty God, whose people are knit together in one holy Church, the mystical Body of your Son, grant us grace to follow your blessed saints in lives of faith and commitment, and to know the inexpressible joys you have prepared for those who love you; through your Son Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.

Cross

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit;
